Crucial Meeting On Milk

Vancouver Island dairymen will have a showdown meeting here at 10 a.m. today with Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman.

This was discussed Wednesday night at Duncan by Henry Robinson, secretary-manager of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association.

Association meetings held in Nanaimo, Duncan, and Victoria in the past three days have decided by a narrow margin to petition the B.C. government to remove Island milk producers from the jurisdiction of the Milk Board, Mr. Robinson said.

FLOOR PRICE ONLY
If this happens, he said, then they will ask that the existing price of milk $3.90 per 100 pounds remain as the floor price and that all other controls be abolished.

Other propositions discussed at the meetings—which were closed to the press, so that results of first meetings would not influence the others—were the possibility of going on strike or "to take the situation as it exists and like it" the V.I.D.A. official said.

Mr. Robinson said that members want to get some assurance of the stability of the industry before milk controls are abolished.

He said that the group meeting with agriculture minister will demand a full review of the entire milk situation.

The committee is comprised of Mr. Robinson, R. Hamby and C. Bulman of Nanaimo; F. Burridge and J. Oliver of Victoria, and Jack Shaneman and H. Horton of Duncan.

Rains Lash Royal Pair At Halifax

HALIFAX, Nov. 7 (CP).—Princess Elizabeth tonight said that as the daughter and wife of a sailor it gave her particular pleasure to be in Halifax.

Then she proved it by smiling in the teeth of a rain-lashed sou'easter that ripped in from a cold grey Atlantic to spoil the elaborate ceremonial the old naval base put on for her.

Dissuaded from reviewing the honor guard, standing soggy in unfluffed rows with pipe clay running down its uniforms, she clutched her hat with both hands in one gust and huddled under an umbrella while Philip carried out a hurried inspection.

During the arrival ceremony you couldn't hear the 100-piece naval band unless you were down wind. The gale drowned out the cheering from the hardy crowd which didn't budge except to run to get a second look.

The Royal sailor and his wife showed their appreciation to the drenched 30,000 who lined the short procession route by smiling and waving continuously throughout.

Diamond Cache Found in Hotel

ROUSE POINT, N.Y., Nov. 7 (AP).—A second large cache of diamonds was found in a hotel toilet bowl today and federal agents pressed a search for a woman believed linked to an international smuggling ring.

Rangers Studying Under R.C.M.P.

First in series of 24 training lectures given by R.C.M.P. to South Vancouver Island Rangers was held at Bay Street Armory Wednesday night. Instruction for intensive course scheduled to run to next March will be under officers selected for knowledge on such subjects as narcotics, counterfeiting, questioning of prisoners and traffic control. Jaycees Back Vote to Test Open Sunday

The Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce last night voted to initiate a referendum on the question of permitting paid sports and theatres to operate on Sunday.

When the motion was put forward by the civil affairs committee it met with heated opposition.

Some members said that such a referendum would incur the hostility of several church groups and that a good deal of adverse criticism would be leveled at the junior chamber as a result.

Lorraine Kirk, director of the civil affairs committee, spoke at some length on the issue.

"We want it clearly understood that the junior chamber is not taking a stand on this issue," he said. "We simply want the people to have the opportunity of going to the polls and expressing their own opinions. We are proposing this referendum purely as a public service."

A petition for such a referendum would require the signatures of about 1,000 people whose names are on the voters' list.

A lively period of discussion preceded a split vote, which forced the president, D. E. Anderson, to cast the deciding vote and declare the motion passed.

At an election of officers earlier in the evening, Alf Heaslip and Eric Dowell were elected to fill two vacancies on the executive council.

West Powers Urge World Peace Plan

PARIS, Nov. 7 (AP).—The United States, Britain and France proposed tonight a world peace plan providing for the regulation and reduction of all armed forces and arms, including atomic weapons under an iron-clad system of verification.

The broad plan announced simultaneously in Washington, London and Paris, is to be presented in detail here to the United Nations general assembly.

L. B. Pearson, minister of external affairs, indicated that Canada was consulted and supports the tripartite proposal.

The big three western powers said "the United Nations plan for the atomic energy aspects of any general program for the regulation, limitation and balanced reduction of all armaments and armed forces, unless and until a better and more effective plan can be devised."

Russia has rejected that plan, which the United States sponsored in the U.N. The Russians' primary objection is to on-the-spot inspection by international teams.

The western peace move, therefore, appears designed mainly for propaganda purposes to throw the Russians on the defensive and nullify any benefits they might expect from their own peace offensive.

A key paragraph of the announcement said: "The three governments believe that the path the free world would prefer to take toward real peace and security, Truman said, but added:

"We will do it the hard way if we must" by going forward as we are doing now, to make the free world so strong that no would-be aggressor would dare to break the peace."

Truman's bid for the Kremlin to join in "this great enterprise for peace" was made in a radio and television address beamed throughout the world by the Voice of America. It was carried by the CBC on its trans-Canada and Dominion networks.

It was a follow-up and expansion of a proposal which the United States, Britain and France jointly had made a few hours earlier, before the U.N. General Assembly in Paris.

Full Buttle Lake Debate In Legislature Promised

Fight to Save Buttle Fails

British Columbia conservationists yesterday lost their battle to save Buttle Lake.

The provincial government gave its B.C. Power Commission permission to dam the lake to provide hydro-electric power.

The decision followed months of arguments in which power men claimed Buttle Lake was the only economical source of power left on the island, and conservationists declared the dam would ruin beauty of the lake.

The conservationists insisted Strathcona Park should be preserved for the recreation and enjoyment of all British Columbians and that the government had no right to destroy its recreational value.

APPEAL POSSIBLE
The decision in favor of the Power Commission was handed down by Water Rights Commissioner E. H. Tredcroft, who presided over public hearings on the issue in Victoria and Courtenay.

The decision can be appealed to the lands minister and then to the provincial cabinet.

Mr. Tredcroft, in his report, said the power commission had "shown good and sufficient reasons" for damming the lake and that there was "no justification for refusing the application."

The power commission insisted, during the public hearings, that the Buttle Lake dam was needed to bring its John Hart power development up to an output of 200,000 horsepower.

The conservationists and other opponents of the dam maintained that power could be drawn from Upper Campbell Lake, farther down the same lake-and-river chain.

Premier Makes No Comment On Commissioner's Report

By T. A. MYERS

A full discussion of the Buttle Lake question at the next session of the provincial legislature was promised yesterday by Premier Byron Johnson.

He made the statement a few hours after Water Rights Commissioner E. H. Tredcroft had handed down his decision to allow the B.C. Power Commission to dam Buttle Lake.

The premier said in his prepared statement that as president of the executive council to which the Buttle Lake question may ultimately be appealed he could not comment on Mr. Tredcroft's decision.

PREMIER'S STATEMENT

"I can assure the people, however," he said, "that it is the government's intention that the representatives of the people as assembled in the legislature of this province will have ample opportunity to discuss Buttle Lake at the next session of the legislature and that provision will be made to bring about a full discussion in this respect."

S. R. Weston, chairman of the power commission, said he was "glad we're making progress" on the issue.

Mr. Weston made the statement after a three-hour meeting with Premier Johnson.

He said Mr. Tredcroft's findings would be "good news for Vancouver Island's 22,000 electrical consumers."

NO ACTION

Mr. Weston said the power commission would take no action "until the situation has been clarified."

He indicated tests of the dam site to determine the feasibility of building there would not be done this year.

Construction of the dam, he said, would take "one season" and would cost roughly $2,000,000.

Captain D. J. Proudfoot, Victoria M.L.A., heard of the decision just before he left for Vancouver to sit in on the Young Liberals' convention.

He passed long enough to dash off notes to Premier Johnson and to Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney, demanding to know the reasons for Mr. Tredcroft's decision.

W. A. C. Bennett, Coalition rebel who now sits in the house as an independent representing the Okanagan, said the government should have allowed the Buttle Lake debate demanded by opposition members at the recent special session of the legislature.

EVIDENCE IN

"This quick announcement after the house had adjourned clearly shows that the evidence was all in at the time of the special session," he said.

"The debate requested regarding Buttle Lake should have been allowed by the government."

"Certainly the government should make no final decision until the legislature meets again," he said.

"This is too big a question to be decided by the compiler of water rights, the minister of lands and forests or the cabinet."

"This is a matter which should be decided by the members of the legislature after they have all the information on the question. The legislature set up Strathcona Park and only the legislature should make any important decisions regarding this park."

Truman Challenges Reds To Agree on Arms Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP).—President Truman challenged Russia tonight to accept a "fool proof" disarmament plan under which United Nations inspectors would police each country's forces and weapons, including atom bombs.

That is the path the free world would prefer to take toward real peace and security, Truman said, but added:

"We will do it the hard way if we must" by going forward as we are doing now, to make the free world so strong that no would-be aggressor would dare to break the peace."

Veterans Urge Increase In Allowances This Year

OTTAWA, Nov. 7 (CP).—Two veterans of the First World War today urged the federal government to act at this session to increase war veterans' allowances.

Victor Quelch (S.C. Acadia) and Percy Wright (C.C.F. Mel-fort) made the request in the Commons during continued debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Mr. Quelch urged the government by moving a motion of non-confidence in the government. He charged the government with "failing" to compensate recipients of war-veterans' allowances for the increase in the cost of living by an appropriate increase in the amount of the allowance.

The motion likely will be voted on next week.

Mr. Quelch supported a Canadian Legion request that the monthly basic allowance be increased to $50 from $40 for single veterans and to $100 from $70 for married.

Mr. Wright said he could not see why recipients of war veterans' allowances are not entitled to receive an old-age pension of $40 a month in addition to their allowances. The universal pension, due to start next January, would go to civil servants and others in addition to their present pensions.

Mr. Wright said that veterans had not contributed to the old-age pension fund. But he said parliament had already expressed the opinion in legislation that turned-out veterans had contributed 10 years of their lives to the service of the country.

Cherrier, Railway In Conflict

OTTAWA, Nov. 7 (CP).—Transport Minister Cherrier and Canadian Pacific Railway spokesmen came into sharp conflict today over the impact of the government's freight-rate equalization legislation on the national economy.

In testimony before the Commons, the C.P.R. suggested it could cause some "chaos and dislocation" and proposed amendments which it said would facilitate equalization with less disturbance to regions and industries.

The minister defended his bill and in turn argued that the Canadian Pacific's ideas would defeat the aim of the Royal Commission on Transportation for a new and streamlined freight-rate structure.

Playboy Dies Trying to Save Wife

CASABLANCA, Nov. 7 (AP).—Millionaire sportsman Freddy McEvoy, former husband of two oil heiresses, died a hero's death yesterday in a vain attempt to save his third wife from drowning.

McEvoy, his French wife, Claude, and four others perished when his yacht Kangaroo was driven on the rocks about 100 yards offshore in a violent storm 100 miles south of Casablanca.

Three members of the yacht crew swam to safety.

The 43-year-old international society figure was swimming through 30-foot-high seas only six feet from shore, the survivors said, when he turned back to aid his wife some distance behind. As he neared her side, their strength failed and both sank.

They died after 18 hours of terror aboard the wrecked yacht, which had turned on its side and was braving up. Two French sailors were swept overboard. A Spanish sailor threw himself into the sea and sank.

Mrs. McEvoy's French maid, lashed to the mast, was torn loose by the wind and carried away.

The yacht, on a cruise from Cannes to the Bahamas, was trying to enter the port of Safi but was kept out by blinding sand clouds.

An unidentified French pilot offered today to adopt the five-year-old stepdaughter of his long-time chum, wealthy Freddy McEvoy.

McEvoy's second wife, oil heiress Irene Wrightsman, said his daughter, Stephanie, born of the union with her, will be brought to Los Angeles immediately to live with her. She had been living in France with her father.

The first permanent settlement in Maine at was Monhegan in 1622.

"Monstrous Suggestion"

Whipping Proposal Irks South African Women

JOHANNESBURG, Nov. 7 (Reuters).—South African women are fighting suggestions that female criminals be whipped.

G. S. Frank, child welfare commission, started the heated controversy by saying in a speech that he saw no reason why women should not be whipped, provided that the flogging was done by a ward matron in private and with "due regard for decorum."

"Women may be hanged... Why, then, may they not be whipped?" asked Frank. "They richly deserve it on many occasions."

Frank said existing penalties are unsuitable for punishment of young female domestic servants guilty of petty larceny and for under-age prostitutes.

The proposals were supported by Archbishop T. B. Powell of Port Elizabeth. Dr. Powell also favored reintroducing the ducking stool. In this archaic form of punishment, the offender is lashed to a chair and held under water for a certain length of time.

Organized women's groups are infuriated.

Mrs. W. A. S. Russell, national president of the council of women said: "Civilized countries cannot start beating their women offenders."

Mrs. Llewellyn Powell, Durban justice of the peace, thought that "to introduce this form of punishment for women offenders would be referring to savagery."

Mrs. E. S. Read, senior welfare officer in Johannesburg, said: "I have never heard of such a monstrous suggestion before in any country."

Mrs. Read thought whipping would encourage wardresses to be sadistic and brutal. "Like the wardresses in Nazi concentration camps."

Presbyterians Elect Evans

VANCOUVER, Nov. 7 (CP).—Rev. James Evans of West Point Grey Presbyterian Church was elected moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of B.C. at annual sessions which opened Tuesday night in Central Church.

Mr. Evans succeeds Rev. J. B. Skene, who preached the annual sermon to the synod.

After holy communion today in Central Church, business sessions were resumed.

In his charge to the synod, Dr. Skene said it is the function of the church to teach the Christian faith and to plant and maintain the church throughout the world.

British Blamed For Oil Crisis

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (INS).—Henry Grady, former U.S. ambassador to Iran, today condemned the "colonial attitude" of the British oil company in Iran as largely responsible for a crisis which could plunge the world into war.

Grady warned that the situation is "fraught with danger" and expressed the fear that it might lead to a dictatorship friendly to Soviet Russia in Iran.

The Iranian oil dispute, Grady declared, "vitality concerns the United States, because what happens in Iran may determine whether there will be a third world war."

Premier Johnson's Word

PREMIER JOHNSON'S undertaking that the elected representatives of the people will have every opportunity to discuss the Buttle Lake issue in the Legislature, made yesterday in a formal statement from his office, would be meaningless unless it implies that no step will be taken meanwhile by the power commission or by any other provincial agency to act on the application to dam Buttle Lake now granted by the provincial comptroller of water rights. If this is not what Mr. Johnson meant by his words will he say so now? The public is not interested in any post-mortem on an accomplished action and only a stay of action now could give any meaning to the Premier's words in this regard. Will there be that stay of action? The electors have a right to know.

If the government will take the trouble to look up the order in council passed on April 23 last, it will understand why no verbal assurances will weigh now with the public unless accompanied at the same time by a complete stay of action. The expedient of having one provincial agency ask another provincial agency if it may proceed to enter Strathcona Park, fell the timber at Buttle

Lake, erect a dam and incorporate it into the John Hart power development scheme may satisfy the law, but it has not satisfied the people. From the start the government has given the unfortunate impression that it is committed to this scheme. From the start also it has been challenged by a responsible volume of public opinion on Vancouver Island.

What was once regarded as an undertaking given at the special session of the legislature did not stand up upon proof when the House prorogued. So the Premier's word now is vital in this matter. Does it mean what it clearly suggests, that the House will be consulted before further action takes place? On this rests far more than any mere extension of hydro-electric power on Vancouver Island at Buttle Lake, Campbell River or anywhere else. It has resolved into a major issue of responsible government. A responsible government is one that takes some stock in what the electors ask; one which will not ride roughshod over their views for any reason whatsoever. Unless he states otherwise we choose to believe that Premier Johnson is calling that stay of action.

Night Policing Inadequate

AN ARTICLE in yesterday's Colonist showing the number of policemen available for night duty in the city, coupled with an itemized account of the number of burglaries reported recently, illustrates the inadequacy of police protection in Victoria. The diligence and efficiency of the police force itself is not questioned; but the wisdom of maintaining so small a force to patrol such a large and heavily built-up area certainly may be.

Official records substantiate that in the short period of 11 days no fewer than 16 domestic and commercial premises were forced, as many as three burglaries being reported in a single night. Women are said to have been accosted on downtown streets, with no policemen in sight or within hearing of a call for assistance. Parked cars have been rammed, and various less serious offences committed without official restraint because there was no one at hand to do the restraining.

Most of the crimes and offences complained of have been in hours when the city is asleep. At that time of night there are on the average only five policemen on beat duty to cover the entire business and commercial area of the city, with two others in patrol cars to attend the widespread residential districts; and sometimes the number of constables available for outside duty is even smaller. It is obvious from the record and from the protests that the night force is not nearly big enough for the job assigned to it.

Although various other important functions have been added, the primary duty of a police force is to protect the persons and property of citizens, and the chief of police in Victoria cannot be expected to do that adequately unless he is given enough men. The city council's efforts to hold down the tax rate by paring the annual budget are praiseworthy, but this is one department towards which it cannot afford to be niggardly. The right of householders and merchants to reasonable police protection must be placed before other considerations. With that right goes responsibility, however. It will cost money to increase the size of the police force, and the taxpayers will have to find it, or be satisfied with reduced services in other directions.

Let the Electors Decide

THE CITY COUNCIL, although it is at times inclined to forget it, is elected by the registered voters of Victoria for the discharge of the corporation's business. If the day ever comes when those electors are not qualified to judge of any element of that business that may be referred to them then the whole municipal set-up will be ready for the scrap heap. So it is quite idle to say, as some aldermen attempted to do this week, that the voters are not competent to decide the size of aldermanic board they want to work with the city manager plan.

For three years now the council has declined to put that reference to the voters, although it is of immediate interest to every ratepayer in the city. The main idea of the city manager plan is that the elected representatives will form a policy-making board, and leave its execution and details to the city manager and civic staffs under him. Yet we still have the almost daily spectacle of aldermen dabbling a finger in every civic current—from single boulevard trees to individual traffic lights—while neglecting their own business, which is to form the main policy.

It is idle to go on with the city manager system unless it is going to be applied all the way through. A smaller council—six aldermen and a mayor would be ample for a start—fewer fractional and fractious committees, a good deal more attention to main civic policies, and far less to departmental meddling, are just as much required as a good city manager to make the plan work successfully.

There is not one single valid reason why the size of the aldermanic board should not be decided by the electors. It is the ratepayers who pay the shot. If another year goes by without this necessary referendum going to the voters for their express decision the city manager system will be considerably vitiated. If there are aldermen who cannot understand this, let them talk with the electors and find out. The council will fall in its duty if this issue is not put to a vote at the polls in December, without fail.

PRAISE FOR NANAIMO

Sir,—Mayor E. C. Westwood of Nanaimo, B.C., and possibly some of the teachers deserve great praise for the very sensible way they handled the Royal visit to their city.

The ideal way the children were assembled in the arena, away from possible bad weather, is another big feature and feather in his cap.

The thing which pleased me most was that the reception was 100% Canadian. The singing of O Canada and the Maple Leaf for Ever, both songs with beautiful words and wonderful music, must have warmed the blood and thrilled the hearts of the visiting couple.

The presentation of silver mugs for the Royal children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, by a real native-born British Columbian May Queen was ideal, and as it always should be the younger the better, too. In addition there was no lavish gifts at the expense of the public.

The children of Nanaimo gave their nickels and dimes for the gifts which made it all the more human.

The Royal couple will not soon forget the reception they had at Nanaimo, Vancouver Island.

ARRANGEMENTS CRITICIZED

Sir,—If the people who stage-managed the Royal visit in Victoria are feeling complacent about it, they must be very thick-skinned. It was unimaginative, selfish and rather stupid.

Why did they think that the Princess and the Duke would be delighted to shake hands with a lot of uninteresting politicians and civic officials, complete with wives? Wouldn't they have derived more pleasure from a longer visit to the veterans who really have done something for their country. These veterans would have been omitted from the program entirely if it had not been for the pressure applied by other people who were not blinded by their self-importance.

What about the school children? Why were they not taken to the Armoury or the Arena, where they could really see their own Princess, and welcome her, and sing for her and present their own gifts? What sort of a memory will they have of the Royal visit? Just a car going by and a glimpse of Their Royal Highnesses, perhaps a wave and a smile for the fortunate ones; and how very wet and cold those children must have been.

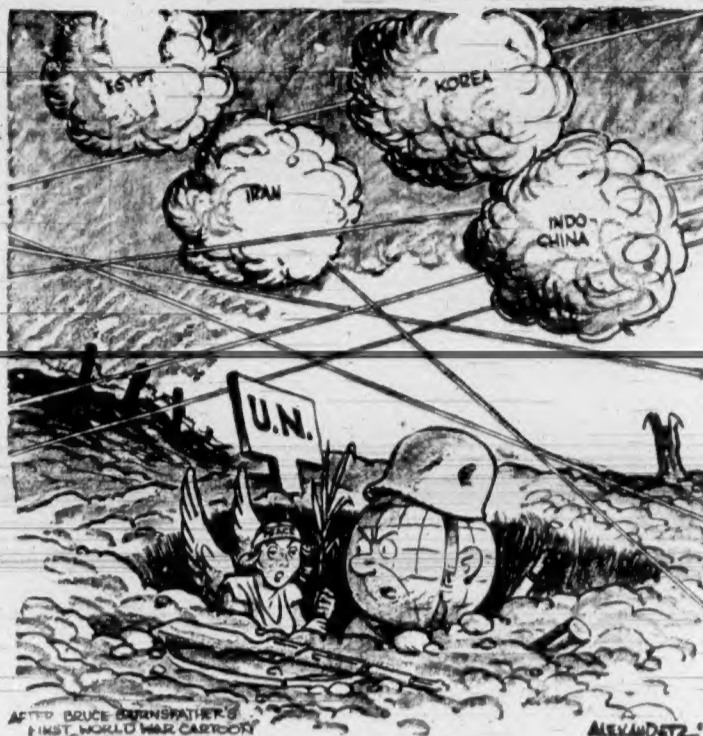

What about the Solarium children? Wouldn't the Princess and the Duke have wanted to see and to talk to these unfortunate, little crippled ones?

What about the Indians? Were they given a fair deal, and an opportunity to present their gifts, and to meet Their Royal Highnesses?

What about the expensive and rather heavy-looking jewelry presented? I feel sure Her Highness has all the jewelry she wants. Wouldn't she have liked a substantial cheque for her numerous charities instead? I think they must have got the most pleasure out of the simple gifts for their children presented all across Canada.

We have had a Royal visit before. Why don't the powers that be learn from past experience? If we ever have another chance in Victoria, let us hope we shall be able to eradicate the unfortunate memories so many of us have of this effort.

Collier's World War III

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

FOLLOWING the misfire of the assassination of Tito, Collier's war continues to develop on remarkable assumptions, rather like a Superman series. Superman is, from the beginning, vastly outnumbered on land, with the Soviets dominating the air. (What's become of all those billions?) But the world eventually lines up behind Tito and ourselves, including all the present neutrals. Israel joins the war early, and Tel Aviv is the principal American bombing base in the Middle East.

This reader interpolates: How did we get that base? Did, perhaps, the American Zionists persuade Israel to abandon the neutrality which it holds as firmly as India? Permit us to doubt it, after the last international Zionist congress in Jerusalem when the American Zionists were thoroughly humiliated. But the advertisement that this is our expectation will come in handy to the Soviets, war or no war, who have long been telling the Arab world that America is building up Israel, hated by the Arabs, as a military outpost.

Collier's war is posed as a clear two-front affair. We predict that if there is an American-Soviet war, there will be wars within wars, a veritable devil's brew of changing fronts and strange alliances, and in many places the allies will not know who is a friend and who an enemy.

In the war foreseen by Collier's second-sighters, Red China will keep out, and somewhere along the line will decide to become a loyal co-operator with the United Nations, in a universally disarmed and internationally policed world. Such modest second sight as we possess tells us that Red China, nourishing a 400-year grudge against white superiority, will wait for both sides to become exhausted in order to pick up spoils.

Maybe the Chinese Red army will march into Siberia, to "protect" comrade Stalin, as comrade Stalin marched into East Europe to "protect" it. And then who will stop the land-hungry Chinese from moving westward in Russia? The next stage will be, no doubt, to rearm the defeated Russian to help repel the Red Mongol hordes, once Russia has rejoined "western civilization."

The Russians, of course, after a period of anarchy, will emerge all love and kisses for the West, and vice versa. For that's another assumption—that the most brutal war in human history is going to end with everybody better, nobler and wiser, showing an entirely different spirit from that shown after World Wars I or II.

Arthur Koestler, the most mature-minded of the contributors, after describing the reconstruction of Russia by "Unhope" in a spirit which suggests that all participants have joined the Quakers, confesses that he dreamed that all he has written "only existed in my own imagination, and that vengeance, rapacity, and blindness of heart made the victors repeat the blunders of the past and throw away humanity's last hope of salvation."

We think that if there is to be a universal conversion to compassion and intelligence it had better be before World War III, which will not contribute to it.

One final assumption of the contributors rather tickles us. It is that they will all be alive to tell the tale. Sherwood to write the history, Morrow to report in his incomparable radio style, Baldwin to continue his sober analyses in The New York Times, J. B. Priestley to whimsey about his first visits with Russian writers, and, oh, yes, Walter Winchell (another of the contributors) to build up new ratings as a popular broadcaster to "Mr. and Mrs. Russia."

We don't expect to be on hand, situated as we are between the Grand Central and the new U.N. in a doomed atomic area.

Reports From Ottawa

THE government is likely to take action soon to ease the distress of Western wheat farmers—who won't be able to harvest their grain until spring.

The plan which I am informed the government will follow is to pay such farmers now for part of the crop they will deliver to the wheat board next spring.

By such advance payment for unharvested wheat, a good many farmers who now have nothing to show for their year's work—except wheat in fields already covered with snow—will obtain money to keep them going until spring.

This is an extraordinary course for the government to follow but then this has been an extraordinary year for the Western farmer, and a heart-breaking one.

Only two months ago it appeared that the 1951 crop would be the best ever—a record-shattering 548,000,000 bushels of mainly high quality wheat. But wet weather during the harvesting season so delayed combining that as much as half the crop, according to government estimates, is still in the fields. There it will stay until the snows melt next spring, and hot sun dries it sufficiently to allow the farmers to finish the harvest.

However, the bleached, rain-soaked, snowed-on, frozen wheat has had about all the damage done to it that the elements can do, and in most cases the farmers will still harvest good-sized crops of lower grade wheat in the spring.

For farmers hard pressed for cash, that's not a great deal of consolation. If it were an ordinary crop failure, they'd collect from the government under the crop failure laws—so much per acre if the yield were under eight bushels, and so much if it were under four bushels.

But the crop failure legislation does not apply because of the unharvested crop still in the fields. Meanwhile the farmers and their families need money on which to live.

It was this predicament of a great many Prairie farmers, particularly those in the less prosperous areas, which Western M.P.'s have been calling to the government's attention in recent weeks. It now appears that their pleas will bring action.

If you ever wonder how it feels to be a low man on a totem pole, you might well ask Solon Low, the leader of the 10-man group of Social Crediters in the House of Commons.

As national chief of an isolationist and monetary reform party that has made little impression on the voters outside of Alberta, Low has a frustrating job. Other opposition leaders—Progressive Conservative leader George Drew and C.C.F. leader M. J. Coldwell—have some reason to hope that eventually the voters will turn to them and their policies. But for Solon Low and Social Credit, the prospect of power at Ottawa isn't even visible above the horizon. There's nothing the Socials can do but fume as they watch the country going to the dogs.

Even when they agree with the other parties, they don't cut much ice. Often, for instance, Prime Minister St. Laurent or one of his ministers will arise in the Commons to make a formal statement on some matter on which unanimous agreement is a foregone conclusion. Drew will follow him and express similar sentiments. Coldwell will add a C.C.F. echo. And when Low finally speaks for the Social group, there's usually nothing that hasn't already been said. So low man Low contributes little more than "that goes for us too".

Price-Fixing Lobby

(From The Windsor Star)

WE dislike pressure groups such as, no matter who or what interests they represent. Yet we agree those conducting a strong lobby at Ottawa, against legislation to prohibit price-fixing by manufacturers and wholesalers, are quite within their democratic rights. It is the privilege of any group to protest, and state its case, if it feels something is being done inimical to its interests.

If we were members of the government, or private members of parliament, we would ask the lobbyists' certain questions.

We would ask them if they believe in the free enterprise system and, if so, how they justify interference with it by price-fixing?

We would ask them if they believe the name of some three-letter snapshot, the manufacturer of which would gladly underwrite all future nuclear research.

A man walked into a restaurant and sat down at a table. "What will you have, sir?" asked the waiter.

The customer shook his head. "Not a thing," he replied. "I'm not hungry."

"Then what's the idea of coming in here?"

The customer shrugged his shoulders. "It's very simple," he explained. "This is my lunch hour."

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

It is constantly being said that the incentive of gain is being removed from business enterprise by ever-increasing taxation and government controls. How astonishing it is, then, that without any incentive, so many magnificent factories, large and small, are going up all over the country, in cities

Wherever you look in our big cities, both in the old downtown areas where old buildings are giving way to new ones, and out in the suburbs, where, despite high building costs, beautiful new modern industrial plants are appearing as if by magic, you will see evidence that there must still be some incentive left which appeals to men with money to risk on their brains and enterprise.

On the Royal tour of the Princess and the Duke, it was my luck to travel much of the way on the pilot train, and the amount of new industrial plants to be seen along the way, from Quebec to Winnipeg, was tirelessly impressive. A feature of the new post-war industrial building is the number of fairly small plants, very handsome, very functional, landscaped, modern and trim. Around these plants, mostly along the railways on the outskirts of cities, are to be observed very few human beings. The number of cars parked beside them is generally small. The impression grows that most of these factories are the realization of that machine age of which we have heard so much, that age of labor-saving devices towards which we have been looking for the past 20 years or more. Are many, if not most, of these new industrial plants the tidy mansions of manless machines which now do the work formerly done by battalions of workers?

If so, the incentive question is answered, for a man with money to risk would more freely risk it on machines that can't talk back to him.

Who Pays?

(From The Financial Post)

WE have been told that the new universal pensions at age 70 are to cost Canadians an additional $250 millions a year. We are not so clear on how much it will cost any particular individual. The Post has made an estimate for one particular case.

The government's "222" plan calls for 2 per cent on personal income (maximum $90); 2 points to be taken out of the existing 10 per cent manufacturers' sales tax; and a 2-point rise in corporation income tax.

It's clear to every taxpayer how much he must pay in the personal income tax rise. And it's reasonably clear that he pays the 2 per cent on sales tax for without the new pensions, presumably the sales tax could have been dropped to 8 per cent. It's not so clear as to who pays the 2-point rise in corporation income tax. In the long run we think consumers pay that increase, too. U.S. experience seems to back us up. There the net income of corporations earning profits after payment of taxes represented about a constant percentage of their gross revenue for the years 1927, 1928 and 1929 when Federal taxes were low, and for the year 1946 when they were much higher.

Let's take the case of a married man aged 25, with no children. If his wife is the same age, they can look forward to a 45-year wait until they will collect the $900 a year payable to the two of them if they are still alive at 70. If we assume an average income of $5,000 a year (the wife may work), what do they pay in the new taxes?

First they pay the maximum $60 in increased personal income tax. Second, they pay about $37 a year on the 2-points-for-the-sales-tax. The 2-point rise in corporation income tax will in the long run cost them $25 more annually.

This means that under the "222" formula, the couple will pay an additional $122 in taxes each year. If in 45 years the couple were able to take their $122 and invest it at 5 per cent at age 70, with interest compounded annually, they would have a principal of $19,483. (After all, money will double itself in 20 years at 3 1/2 per cent.) This principal, invested at 5 per cent, would bring an income of $974 a year, leaving the principal intact, whether or not they both live.

From the government, if they both live, they will receive $960, and have no principal.

The people of Canada, through their parliament, seem to favor this pension scheme. These figures are presented merely to show what it will cost, and to indicate why some people may still be in favor of paddling their own canoe.

Seven Vessels, Canadian-Built Idle at Canton

(Writer of the following story on the Ming Sung ships is a former editor of the Canton Daily Sun, and a one-time AP staff correspondent there.)

By F. K. WU

HONG KONG, Nov. 7 (CP).—The seven Ming Sung ships which have stirred prolonged controversy in Canada now are Pearl River, behind the iron curtain at Canton.

Reliable reports reaching here indicate that the Communist authorities have found the ships cannot be of use to them and the vessels, built in Canada with a federally-backed bank loan, are simply rotting away.

They were seized by their crews after their owners, the Ming Sung Industrial Co. Ltd., failed to meet an installment on the mortgage held by a Canadian bank. The payment was made good by the Canadian government which guaranteed a $12,000,000 loan to the Chinese firm, which has a subsidiary company in Canada.

The explanation given here for the seizures was that the crews thought the ships would be seized for Canada in Hong Kong for payment of the debt. Shipping circles here now believe the Communists may have ordered the Ming Sung firm to operate on both sides of the

Ontario Election Three-Way Fight

TORONTO, Nov. 7 (CP).—The field for Ontario's Nov. 22 provincial election takes definite shape tomorrow.

Prospects are that some 275 to 280 candidates will file official nomination papers with returning officers in the province's 90 constituencies before the final deadline.

An official tabulation tonight by the Canadian Press shows a total of 266 prospective candidates.

The election shapes up as a three-way fight between the Progressive Conservatives, C.C.F., and Liberals.

The ruling Progressive Conservatives, who held 53 seats in the last House, have 90 candidates—six in each constituency.

The C.C.F., official opposition in the last House with 21 seats, has 76 candidates with a possibility that more may get into the race.

The Liberals, who held 13 seats in the last House, have 88 candidates.

The Communist Labor-Progressive party, which has held two seats since 1943, has five candidates in the field.

There are three independents, one Independent Labor and one Independent Progressive Conservative.

Tour Sidelights

Bystanders along the Royal procession route in Halifax yesterday were treated to a touch of naval tradition by one of the sailors on guard duty. He and his shipmate went to a nearby restaurant for a bottle of coffee. When it arrived they produced a small silver flask and poured into each cup—one lot of rum.

School children of Toron, N.S., didn't do so well when singing O Canada and the Maple Leaf Forever for Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. As one explained: "I was so hoarse from cheering I just couldn't sing."

Another young fellow, in Halifax, appeared more than usually interested as the Royal car passed along the street, but his interest apparently won him an argument. After the Princess had gone he turned to his mother and said: "I told you she had freckles."

Children of taxpayers in the municipal district of Salmon Arm, B.C., says a Vancouver dispatch, who have been excluded from classes for more than a month, are entitled to receive their schooling because their parents have paid all they are legally required to pay towards education costs. This was stated in Appeal Court during hearing of an appeal against a Supreme Court refusal to order Salmon Arm School District to allow the children to attend their classes. Decision may be given next Tuesday.

A landslide vote in Edmonton yesterday elected 37-year-old William Hawrelak mayor of that city in a three-way fight. The vote is expected to break all previous records. Mr. Hawrelak was candidate of the Citizens' Committee.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics in Ottawa reports that the regional cost-of-living declined slightly in Vancouver during September, but increased in eight other cities used as cross-country keys.

People in the News

Just for the record, in Philadelphia yesterday a singer named Frank Sinatra married an actress named Ava Gardner.

In Washington, the White House has denied reports that President Truman offered this week to support Gen. Dwight Eisenhower as the Democratic presidential candidate in 1952.

Still on the subject of politics, Senator Robert Taft (R-Ohio) says in New Orleans that he will contest either General Eisenhower or General Douglas MacArthur if they decide to seek the Republican nomination for president. If he did not intend to do so, said Taft, he would not have announced his own candidacy.

From Here and There

A London dispatch says plans for the Australian tour will be ready for Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh when they return from their present tour. Preparations are already going ahead at their home, Clarence House.

At Salt Lake City Benjamin F. Fairless, president of United States Steel Corporation, has announced plans for a sweeping reorganization of the corporate structure of the firm and its subsidiaries. Changes, he said, would be "internal."

President Truman in Washington has named a three-man emergency board to investigate the postponed strike of locomotive firemen and engineers against four major U.S. railroads.

Group Remains Firm on Stand

VANCOUVER, Nov. 7 (CP).—Seventeen B.C. employer organizations stuck to their guns yesterday and refused to be cross-examined by labor on a brief they submitted to the five-man inquiry into B.C.'s Labor Act.

W. L. Macken, president of the Industrial Association of B.C., said he would let the brief calling for curbs on strikes and other changes in the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act stand on its own feet.

In a letter written to the board during its second day of hearings here, Macken said: "I no one person could speak for the submission and, at any rate, he felt all points were backed up and fully explained."

R. K. Gervin, secretary of the Vancouver and District Trades and Labor Council (T.L.C.), presented a seven-page rebuttal to the employers' requests for changes in the act.

Sweeping Civic Changes Promised by Harrison

Promises of sweeping changes in civic government, including a full-scale arena investigation, were made by majority candidate C. L. Harrison yesterday.

An arena inquiry under oath will bring out "what went wrong and why," how "similar mistakes" can be avoided in the future, and whether the arena is now safe for public use, Mr. Harrison says.

BRIDGE PLANS

Mr. Harrison, former city prosecutor, promises to "cut out uncertainties and useless expenditures" and cites as an example the $10,000 spent for Point Ellice bridge plans which "we cannot use."

"We will not build road curbs and then pull them up... we will not build a 'roundabout' and then accept plans to pull it up... we will not spend an average of over $5,000 a year on trips attending conventions... we will have no more solid schemes like elevators and woolen mills," states Mr. Harrison.

He advocates a reduction of the city council to eight members on which the voting public will decide.

He offers a "citizen's hour" in which Victorians "may hear and find out about their affairs and may ask questions."

"We will not sell our waterworks worth millions and get no

Mr. Harrison promises to "find out what rights we have" and enforce them and to "step on" anything detrimental to the citizens "such as the continual rise of cost of living."

Pleasantly—at low cost? Try the

Shasta Daylight

The streamlined "Shasta Daylight" makes the spectacular morning-to-night run between Portland and San Francisco through beautiful and varied scenery.

YOU GLIDE ALONG swiftly and smoothly, powered by a great Diesel locomotive that makes molehills out of mountains. You recline in a roomy chair, cushioned in foam rubber, reserved just for you alongside a huge, non-fogging, skyview picture window. Stops are few and very brief.

THE AIR IS FILTERED, kept at just the right temperature, regardless of weather outside. There's ice water to drink—spacious washrooms, too—all within a few steps of your chair.

DELICIOUS MEALS are served in the Coffee Shop and the beautiful Dining Car. Timberline Tavern Car offers you refreshments, space to play cards, loaf, mix with congenial fellow passengers.

YOU CAN RELAX, read, snooze, write or just sit alone with your thoughts and beautiful scenery. No worry about getting there on time, because the engineer is doing the driving on steel rails, guarded in a hundred ways by men reared in the tradition of safety first.

You'd think all that would cost a lot. But check the fares in the box to the left. That's right—that's all it costs on the Shasta Daylight to San Francisco. No other form of transportation offers so much for so little. Next time, try the Shasta Daylight.

Log Group Recommends Mutual Aid Against Fires

The Pacific Logging Congress yesterday recommended increased co-operation among local, state and provincial—and private—fire associations to cut fire losses.

The 42nd annual congress passed the recommendation after noting the 1951 fire season had been the most severe in recent history to forest and logging industry employees as essential for national defense.

LANGUAGE PROBLEM

Adam Bell, chairman of the B.C. Workmen's Compensation Board, said the recent influx of immigrants unable to speak English and placed in the woods was an added hazard in the industry.

This is being checked through special instructions on safety, Mr. Bell said.

Mr. Bell said the Workmen's Compensation Board has no intention of issuing instructions in several languages to accommodate the new immigrant workers.

Yesterday's sessions concluded the business of the congress. The three-day convention ended with the long-expected annual ball in the Empress Hotel.

NATIONAL FORESTS

The resolution pointed out that national forests contain about 70 per cent of the currently merchantable timber in the western United States, much of it inaccessible because of inadequate road systems.

The congress urged further co-operation between private land owners and public agencies in the struggle to protect timber values against forest insects and diseases.

During the afternoon sessions, Robert F. Dwyer, Portland, Ore., led discussion on the industry's relation to government during a national emergency.

A resolution was passed that if any national emergency requires full-scale production of forest products, government departments should give considera-

Home Building V.L.A. Course November 20

Opening of the Veterans' Land Act "Build Your Own Home" course, which was scheduled for Tuesday, has been delayed to Nov. 20, a V.L.A. official said Wednesday.

Sponsored by the Greater Victoria School Board and the provincial department of education, the course will be held in the Monterey View High School on Carey Road.

Applications can be obtained and registration made in the V.L.A. office, Belmont Building, the announcement said.

Australian Beef Turned Down

VANCOUVER, Nov. 7 (CP)—A shipment of 10,000 cases of Australian canned beef valued at $100,000 today was rejected by the federal government inspectors here and is awaiting shipment to another country.

The shipment was rejected because it did not comply with regulations that moisture content must not exceed 60 per cent or cereal content exceed four per cent.

The importer is one of several who have been importing canned beef from Australia for the last year and retailing it at about half the cost of Canadian fresh meat.

Between 50,000 and 75,000 cases have been brought in this year.

Famous Dogs Back From England Television Set

Won by Girl

Nine-year-old Geraldine Symes, 639 Lampsan Street, is the proud owner of a new television set. She won the set last night at the Weston Bakeries Ltd. "open house".

Pop-up toasters were won by Mrs. L. Rawlings, 430 Beach Drive, and Edward Walters, 803 Craigflower Road.

Bakery officials said 15,000 persons went through the Fairview Road plant during the event.

More than 3,000 dozen cookies were given to children.

GIFTED ACTOR
Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, famous English actor who died in 1937, in his youth won distinction as a painter.

Two famous travelers, Max and Maxine, mastiff pups flown from England recently, are shown by Mrs. H. W. Mellish, West Saanich Road. The two dogs are pups of mastiffs sent by Mr. and Mrs. Mellish to England to re-stock the breed. (Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Mastiff Arrivals Here Given by Grateful Club

By BRIAN LOUGHEAN
Two newcomers to Canada, Max and Maxine, who were recently flown from England to Victoria with all expenses paid, are subjects of world-wide attention in dog circles. They are children of history.

Max and Maxine were sent to Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Mellish, West Saanich Road, by the grateful Old English Mastiff club after the Mellishes saved the breed from dying out in England.

Mr. and Mrs. Mellish answered an urgent appeal by the English club when only five mastiffs were left in England. They sent five dogs from their kennel, largest mastiff kennel in the world, and asked for two dogs in return "when breeding is successful."

Max and Maxine are healthy proof that the breed has been saved in England.

Max and Maxine will reach enormous proportions when full grown. They will each weigh close to 200 pounds and stand as high as three feet at the shoulder.

A characteristic of the mastiffs is to "make the rounds" several times each night, says Mrs. Mellish. The dogs like to visit all parts of the house two or three times during the night.

Mastiffs are one of the oldest known breeds of dogs. They existed as a breed as far back as 2000 B.C. and Caesar described them in his account of the invasion of Britain in 55 B.C. when they were kept as fighting dogs.

As pets and guards the great, deep-voiced mastiffs are ideal. Big enough to deal with unwanted visitors, they are also gentle with children and are not easily teased into resentment.

The pick of a litter of pure-bred mastiffs costs $250 and others cost $100 and up.

Max and Maxine will share kennel facilities with another 25 mastiffs, including one called King, a favorite of Mr. and Mrs. Mellish. Two-year-old King warned the family when their house caught fire on Oct. 13.

Admiral Mainguy, who was chairman of a three-man commission which brought down a critical report on Canada's navy in 1949, will be promoted to vice-admiral on taking over Admiral Grant's post, the announcement said.

Commodore Roger E. S. Bidwell, 52, will fill the post vacated by Admiral Mainguy. To be promoted to rear admiral, Commodore Bidwell has been serving temporarily as commodore of R.C.N. barracks at Esquimalt.

Taking over as commanding officer of H.M.C.S. Naden will be another Vancouver Island man—Commodore Kenneth Adams, at present commanding officer of H.M.C.S. Magnificent.

Two Members To Run Again
Central Saanich councillors Lorne Thompson and Harold Andrew last night announced plans to stand for reelection to the council in December elections.

Mr. Thompson asserted that during the past year through the council's lack of experience Reeve Pickles had been allowed to budget above present requirements.

Mr. Andrew said that his past term had provided him with much background and incentive to continue in community work. Only the two seats are vacant on the council this year.

Election is December 15.

Tredcroft Report Copies Not Released to Press

Copies of the Tredcroft report on the Butte Lake dam were not made available to the press yesterday.

Reporters were not given a chance to read the report, Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney said in a statement.

The report at a press conference and then issued press releases listing the conditions imposed on the B.C. Power Commission by Water Rights Comptroller E. H.

Tredcroft in granting the commission's application for permission to dam the lake.

Mr. Kenney told reporters he had no objection to Mr. Tredcroft releasing the report.

NO COPIES

Mr. Tredcroft said he had no extra copies and couldn't release the report, anyway, without direct permission from the minister.

The copy of the report given to Premier Byron Johnson, it was learned, listed Mr. Tredcroft's reasons for granting the application.

These reasons were not given in Mr. Kenney's summary. It was reported that the section in Premier Johnson's copy containing these reasons was marked "confidential."

The decision may eventually be appealed to the cabinet, which is headed by Premier Johnson.

Federal Order Taxing Pipe Riles Oak Bay

Oak Bay is the latest municipality to run afoul of the federal collector of customs and excise regarding the practice of manufacturing its own concrete pipe.

Esquimalt municipality recently bucked a similar federal tax order but later found protests futile. The municipality was compelled to pay tax on the pipe it made itself.

"I think it is an outrage," said Councillor Fred Robinson, last night. "I'm opposed to it on principle and I think we should fight it."

Council voted to refer the matter to the municipal solicitor for a report before any action is taken.

The pipe, it was contended, is made by the municipal works department and used in its own projects.

The six-month exercise will test equipment and personnel and deal with airstrip construction, snow compaction, field defense, demolition and cold weather administrative problems.

The camp is being built at Silver Creek, about 165 miles south of the Yukon-Alaska border.

Drainage Improvements in Progress at Park

Royal Athletic Park is having its face literally lifted this week as improvements are made to drainage system. Drains are being dug out, cleaned and replaced. Covering of two-inch gravel is being laid over drains to prevent seepage of soil. Then earth and turf, which was rolled back in long strips, is placed back on top. Jim

Essler, in charge of operation, is shown at work with ditch digger, digging out drain after turf has been removed. Officials have promised park will be ready for week-end soccer games.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Chevrefils Ties A.H.L. Goal Mark

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Nov. 7 (CP).—Rookie Chevrefils tied an individual scoring record for the current American Hockey League season tonight as he blasted home four goals to lead Hershey Bears to an 8-4 victory over Syracuse Warriors.

Norm Corcoran, Jerry Brown, Dave Creighton and Leo Labine scored the other Hershey goals. Kenny Hayden, Mike Narduzzi, Leo Curick and Billy Gooden were the Syracuse goalkeepers.

Service, 7-3, to take over undisputed possession of first place. Merchants were dropped into second place as they were held to a 4-4 tie by the scrappy Individuals.

The Merchants-Individuals game was easily the best of the latter club three times taking the lead against its favored opponents but failing to hold it.

The spirited action produced nine penalties, including majors to Stueck of Individuals and Len Elphick of Merchants for a third-period display of fist-fighting.

RAN UP MARGIN

Merchants opened the scoring on a solo effort by Bill Jensen after four minutes, but Individuals ran up a 2-1 margin at the first intermission on goals by Bob Fowler and Norm Kowalyk.

Gallant tied it when he scored unassisted early in the second period but Individuals went ahead again a minute later when Arnold Elliott converted a pass from Art Green. Grant and Taylor combined with the former scoring to tie it up again late in the period. Individuals took their third lead with four minutes gone in the final period when Elliott put Green in the clear. Connie McBeth saved a point for the Merchants when he took a pass from Pishka and beat goalie Derek McConey four minutes later.

Seven-Ups' triumph over Civil Service was a repetition of their victory in their first meeting of the season. The bottlers broke through a disorganized team for four goals in the last seven minutes to turn a close game into a rout.

Ed Yarga was the individual star, scoring the winners' first four goals, two unassisted. McCall scored twice for the losers.

ENTHUSIASM GALORE

Navy and Army made up in enthusiasm what they lacked in finesse. Although the more experienced sailors carried most of the play, Navy appeared better while playing short-handed. Army goalie Fred Lange was a busy man, particularly in the final period, and his task was made doubly difficult as his teammates passed directly in front of the goal during Navy attacks.

The soldiers gained the victory although their attack lacked authority. Most of their thrusts were one- and two-man attacks with the two defensemen playing well back of the centre line.

Vary shared the spotlight with Lange, scoring three of the Army goals and setting up a fourth.

Down 4-2 with five minutes left, Navy pulled its goalie for six attackers while holding a two-man advantage. The goalie went back in for a face-off in the Navy zone but Nash clinched the victory by scoring from the face-off for the fifth Army goal.

London Market Moves Lower

LONDON, Nov. 7. (Reuters).—Debt bids in German bonds were suspended on the stock exchange today following an official plan for the distribution of German power assets. Markets considered the plan unworkable.

Ahead of the government announcement of steps to be taken to deal with the home economic situation, other sections of the market were hesitant and inclined to move lower under the lead of gilt-edged issues. An early firmness in the funds was quickly met by some reported forced selling of the short dated issues. Gains on one quarter were replaced by losses of one eighth.

Industrials were mixed. Leading oil shares sagged in a quiet market.

Minings attracted speculation support. Copper made steady upward progress and there were many small improvements.

Fish Landings Below 1950; Value Higher

OTTAWA Nov. 7 (CP) — Landings of sea fish in Canada during 2 Newfound-land declined September from the corresponding period last year. The landed value was higher.

Plane Cargoes Show Increase

WINNIPEG, Nov. 7 (CP)—Carriers on Canadian Airways are mounting today as a result of increasing railway rates. W.F. English of Montreal, president of Trans-Canada Air Lines, said here last night, in an address to the Canadian Air Line Pilots' Association.

Mr. English said he looks forward to the day when Canadian airways would "get in ready competition with the roads in the cargo business."

"We cannot keep on moving cargo on passenger airfoils," said "But the difficulty now is that we can't get the aircraft we need."

Meanwhile, passenger revenues of T.C.A. had come within 50 per cent of that of Canadian National Railways, he said.

BONDS STILL QUIET

MONTREAL Nov. 7 (CP) — Trading continued quiet today in the Montreal bond market with prices many unchanged. Bond yields were steady to a shade easier. Convertible and corporate markets were active with CPR's and B.A.'s strong.

To Increase Yield Seed Given Hotfoot

MILAN Nov. 7 (AP). They're doing some pretty shocking things this year in Italian grain culture.

Even the seed is getting the hotfoot.

It's done in a modern laboratory at Gossolengo, near here, where grain is shocked by electricity to produce a bigger yield.

Its sponsors say the system is working with wheat yields increased 10 to 20 per cent and other grains showing improvement.

The shock treatments have been under way for a year in laboratories of a new "international company for electric treatment of seed" under the presidency of Count Alessandro Anguissola d'Alone of Milan.

The company is working on a system invented by Professor verse climates and some grain diseases such as rust.

Count Anguissola says that these same increases can be maintained by shock treatment of all wheat planted in Italy.

The country could become self-sufficient in wheat, now one of the major basic food shortages. Italy he points out now gets 7,000,000 tons of wheat a year and needs 8,000,000.

In the shock laboratory, grain is held in large vats in which it is sucked by air pressure into big glass containers.

An electric switchboard to 20 feet contains the controls, dials by which the electric shocks are regulated, and gauges which keep the wheat circulating at fixed temperature.

Bindo Merloni, a Rome scientist.

Riceoni doesn't claim the idea is new. As far back as 1746 a French student named Maimbrai "shocked" a myrtle tree. He claimed it made the tree bloom prematurely.

Riceoni started his tests in 1942. Two years and 3,250 experiments later he began to get results.

Describing these at the first

International Congress of Radio
Electric Biology in Venice he contended there is an essential electric force inherent within the seed itself. His system is to create two conflicting electric fields of energy which stimulate and modify the inherent electricity in the seed.

Now, 4,600 experiments later, he has extended his tests to wheat, corn, rice, oats and rye.

RESULTS

IB claims these results:

1. His electrically jolted grain grows a higher number of ears, a greater number of grains per ear and larger grains;
2. The shocked seeds show

Court's Ruling May Affect Many Mutuals

OTTAWA, Nov. 7 (CP)—In a decision affecting many Canadian mutual insurance companies, the Exchequer Court of Canada has decided that the Stanley Mutual Fire Insurance Company of New Brunswick is liable to income tax on revenue paid into its reserve fund.

The judgment, made public today, is the first on an appeal to the high court from the income tax appeal board, set up about two years ago to rule on taxpayer complaints against revenue department assessments.

The court used a board ruling that the Stanley company was not liable for its funds put into the reserve. Officials said the judgment will affect the tax status of companies set up along the same lines as the Stanley concern.

NOT TRUE "MUTUAL"

Main point in the decision is that the Stanley company is not a true "mutual" company in the legal sense since the reserve built up to take care of future excessive losses—belongs to the company rather than the shareholders.

Santa's Bounty Costlie As Toronto Prices Soar

TORONTO Nov. 7 (CP)—Playing Santa Claus is going to cost more this year—at least in Toronto.

Retailers here say that most of the items in his bag from wrapping ribbons to the Christmas tree itself, will be higher. Pop's pay cheque should find a 10-per-cent hike bigger hole in his pocket than last year.

Shelves are sagging right now with goods that have been lying around for the last five months, neglected by bought out consumers. But the merchants aren't worried.

EXPECT BIG SALES

They believe the festive season, in fact, is going to bring an end to the long sales slump. Sales this year, they say, will be the biggest ever.

They expect a flood of gift-shopper's dollar

For the kids, mechanical toys are in abundance. Most are from the United States, rather than Germany. But along with the toys, they'll cost about 10 per cent more.

Among new types of dolls, one that opens its mouth sucks its finger, another whose skin can be bathed and powdered, and an electrical doll that sings songs, recites poems.

For the man who pays the whole show, gifts are more expensive.

OTTAWA Nov. 7 (CP)—Ingers on deposit in Canada's banks topped at Sept. 30 amounted to $4,594,710, against $4,161,000 at Aug. 31, and $4,980,000 at Sept. 30 last year.
